At the start of the trail, just outside the main parking area, the information boards allow you a first glimpse into the National Park and provide explanations about the little world of the river.

Head into the forest using the wide, paved trail. Keep going through the forest: the trail wends its way alongside the Corossol river. You will then soon arrive at the end of the trail, where you will find a platform near the waterfall. After enjoying the views, turn around and head back by the same path. On the other side of Route RD23, a special picnic area has been set up next to the main car park.

All useful information

Is in the midst of the park

The national park is an unrestricted natural area but subjected to regulations which must be known by all visitors.

Advices

Pay attention to cars on Route RD23, as it is a major road.

There are no litter bins on the route, so please be considerate and take your rubbish with you.

Extra care should be taken in this natural environment, as Guadeloupe is prone to natural risks. For the benefit of all hikers, it is very important that you behave responsibly.

Please note: the parking and swimming areas are not supervised.

On your path...

Information boards (A)

At the start of the trail, you can find out more about the area's heritage by consulting the information boards. A panoramic map of the area, also written in Braille, will show you the trail in detail. You can find out everything about the remarkable species at this site including the brown trembler, Guadeloupe woodpecker, ouassous (varieties of shrimp) and cirique crab, to name but a few.

Alongside the river... (B)

The trail runs along the Corossol river. Here you can hear the gentle ripple of the water as you walk.

Sloanea massoni (C)

Here, you may also be able to see a quite remarkable tree : the large-leaved Chestnut (Sloanea massoni). It can be seen just to the side of the trail. If you see it, you cannot miss it : it is an imposing tree with distinctive buttresses at its bole. As for vegetation, the site of la Cascade aux Ecrevisses in the tropical forest also gives you the chance to see some tree ferns (Cyathea arborea).

Final platform (D)

You then reach a final platform, where you can hear the cool waters of the Cascade aux Ecrevisses, a fine cascade that stands at eight metres high and that flows into the Corossol river. Here, a wooden bench allows you a little respite.
